Keep a Search Tab, working with more than one Search Tabs

Saving search results as a selection is quick and easy with Telix and provides a neat way to work with a selection of messages. Sometimes though you may need to keep temporarily an existing search and move on to another Search Tab.

Just click on the open lock to keep the current search. Any new search will appear to a new Tab.

Hovering over the Search Tab will reveal useful information about the contents of the Search tab.

Tips and best practices from Omni users about search include:

- Save what you frequently search to have this always available in the Mailbox Tab.
- Double click on a saved selection to open in a new Search Tab.
- Navigate Search history with the arrows next to this button.
- Keep only those favorites you really use frequently.
- Double click on “hot areas” like addressee, vessel, project, tags for an effortless search.
- Organize your messages using both Folders and Tags; rules are a great time saver.
- Keeping too many temporary Search Tabs may be an obstruction.
- Free text search is lightning fast and comes to the rescue to find messages that are not classified.
